

America's Documents – The Forgotten Constituents

- archives.gov/founding-doc
- en.m.wikipedia.org/Jacob_Sallus

The Constitution was drafted by the leaders of the thirteen colonial states. However, the document had to be ratified by legislatures of the thirteen Chartered colonies.

Those of you that live within the Washington D. C. areas, should plan a trip to your new Capital and seat of government.

It is important that each of you remember, that in the American Republican form of governance, Power to form our government is “granted” to the representatives of the People, but Power of Governance is “RETAINED” by you The People. That is why each vote of the “Governed” counts!

The above link will allow you to obtain all of the important documents of your new country.

Please study and understand the Preamble, Articles I, II, and III and their sections of the Constitution.